SKIN/COMPLEXION ANALYSIS

In conjunction with

“Skin/Complexion analysis Imaging System”

With increased demand for anti-aging and lifestyle driven programmes, Henley Clinic is now able to offer a full complexion analysis with the use of a state of the art skin imaging system which takes digital two-dimensional photographs of the face and measures the condition of your skin, thereby allowing a specific treatment programme to be devised for you.

What skin conditions does the Imaging analyser assess?

- Spots
- Pores
- Lines and wrinkles
- Evenness (colour variation in the skin)
- Porphyrns (Bacteria)
- Pigmentation (UV spots)

PROCEDURE

- You will be required to see one of our skin specialists for an initial consultation where the process will be fully explained. Initial face analysis will last about 30 minutes after which you will be issued with your unique complexion profile consisting of;
 1. 2-dimensional photographs
 2. comparison to computer database of 100,000 surveyed patients
 3. Personalised treatment options

- The Consultation consists of your personal details being entered into the camera's computer system and a series of digital and UV photographs are taken. The system then provides a clear, multi-dimensional portrait of the individual aspects of your complexion which contribute your overall appearance. It concentrates on the six facial features as outlined above. Additionally the system then provides informative comparison of your complexion's characteristics with others of the same age, sex and ethnicity.
- This unique personal profile will then form the basis for the discussion with your Henley Clinic skin specialist in order to advise/discuss about appropriate skin care and rejuvenation treatments available for you in order to maintain a healthy and youthful appearance.
- The analysis should be carried out once per year to ascertain the effects of your programmes or this can be tailored at shorter intervals to further compare with pre and post treatment programmes.
